END OF YEAR EXAMINATION - 2012 ENGLISH COMPREHENSION - CLASS SIX

Carefully read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Passage I

THE ENVIRONMENT

Do you know that what people think of a place depends mainly on the environment? What is this environment that we hear so much about everyday?

Certain things make up the environment of our community. These include our houses, streets, rivers, the refuse dumps, smoke, the land, vegetation, flowers, living creatures and so on.

In some towns and villages, the houses are well planned with streets well laid out for easy movement and to allow plenty of fresh air. In such places, people are not allowed to build anywhere, anyhow. Before a house is built, Town and Country Planning Officers have to inspect the building site. They advise those who want to build houses and help to prevent them from building in areas set aside for streets, recreational centers, schools, health centers, markets, public places of convenience and other facilities

Planning our towns is one thing, keeping them clean and healthy is another. Dirty streets and choked gutters and untidy surroundings destroy the beauty of our towns and villages. They are harmful to our health.

Toilets and refuse dumps should not be sited too near living places. Weeds should not be allowed to grow wild around our houses. Water should not be allowed to remain in containers in our homes uncovered or around our houses. Such containers breed mosquitoes which give us malaria. This is not good for us.

Keeping our houses clean means that our houses and their surroundings should be kept very tidy. We should always scrub our toilets and clean our homes.

Clean and neat surroundings make a healthy environment. We have to prevent the attacks of deadly diseases such as cholera, typhoid fever and malaria. One way of doing this is to cover all our food and wash our plates immediately after eating. We should not allow flies and other dangerous insects and pests to stay with us in our homes.

In addition, there are some bad habits that we have to discourage. Some people spit about and throw waste materials such as banana and orange peels on to the streets, into the gutters and elsewhere. We must learn to stop such dirty habits.

There is yet another bad practice which affects our environment, health and lives. Some people urinate at odd places and even go to toilet at the beaches, in the bushes and into gutters. This is very unhygienic thing to do. So we should stop it.

If we keep our towns and villages clean, we may even attract tourists into our country and earn some money with which to develop the country.

If we value our own lives, then the safest means of keeping alive is to care for the lives of others. This we can do by keeping ourselves, our surrounding, our houses and public places clean and healthy.

Maintaining a clean and healthy environment is, and should be, the duty of everyone – the chiefs, district council members, chief executive officers, politicians, church leaders and all others who have some authority in our society.

Questions on the passage

- (1) Mention any three (3) things that make up the environment of a place?
- (2) Mention two reasons why our streets should be carefully planned.
- (3) What is the duty of Town and Country Planning Officers?
- (4) Whose duty is to keep the environment clean?
- (5) For what any other reason, apart from health, should we keep our environment clean.
- (6) Write down some of the habits we should discourage according to the passage, to keep a clean environment. At least three (3)
- (7) List the deadly diseases mentioned in the passage.

Passage II

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

ANANSE AND THE GOURD OF WISDOM

Crafty Ananse decided out of selfishness to collect all the wisdom in the world, store it in a gourd and hide it at some safe place. He wanted to hide it from other human beings so that they will go to him for advice.

He went round the whole world and collected every bit of wisdom from all kind of people, without leaving out anybody. He even managed to get the wisdom which the chief used in judging cases.

When at last he thought he had every bit of wisdom in the world, he put it into a gourd (a kind of calabash with a long neck). Putting all the bits of wisdom into the gourd was difficult but Ananse, wise as he was, succeeded in doing so.

Then he looked around for a very safe place to hide the gourd. He thought of burying it in the earth but he realized that some termites might eat it or perhaps he might even forget where he had buried it. He thought of hiding it in his house but he feared his wife or children might dig it or that the house might be burnt down. He thought of many other places but he felt none of them was safe enough.

In the end he decide to hang it on the highest branch of the tallest tree in the forest. For several days, Ananse went about searching for the tallest tree in the forest. Thanks for his great wisdom, he found the tree. He tied a strong rope round the neck of the gourd and then hung it round his neck. With the big gourd of wisdom hanging in front of him and pressing against his stomach, Ananse began to climb the tree. It was a very difficult task. The gourd made it impossible to press his body against the tree, and he was afraid that his hands and feet would slip and make him fall to the ground and die. He climbed very slowly. Soon he was tired. He was not even a quarter of the way up the tree.

Just then his son, Ntikumah, came by; he stood there for sometime and watched his father struggling. Then he called out to him, "Father, why don't you hang the gourd at your back instead of having it in front against your stomach? You could climb much more easily that way".

Then suddenly Ananse realized that he had failed to collect all the wisdom in the world. He realized that his son, Ntikumah, had still got a large part of it. If his son still had some wisdom, then, perhaps there might be other people also whose wisdom had not been collected.

Ananse was so angry that he let fall the gourd of wisdom. It broke into pieces and the wisdom went flying about and scattered all over the world.

So, once again, wisdom came back into the world. Some had the lion's share of it, others had only a little.

Ananse agreed that no one could have all the wisdom in the world. It had to be shared, or else it will do nobody any good.

Answer the following questions

1. Why did Ananse want to have all the wisdom in the world?
2. How did he go about collecting it?
3. Where did he store it?
4. Mention any two possible places where Ananse thought he could hide the gourd of wisdom.
5. Why were those places thought not safe for him?
6. Where did he hang the gourd as he climbed the tree?
7. What did Ntikumah tell his father?
8. Ananse realized he had failed to collect all the wisdom in the world. What made him realize this?
9. How did wisdom remain in the world?
10. What lesson does the story teach you?

Answer only two (2) questions from this part

1(a) Define the following terms;

- (i) Absorption
- (ii) Respiration
- (iii) Ingestion

(b) Use the diagram below to answer the questions below.

- (i) Label the parts I, II, III, IV, V, VI, VII.
- (ii) Give one (1) importance each of the parts labeled IV, III, II, V, VI
- (iii) What does the diagram above represent?

(c) Describe the following ways of preserving food.

- (i) Drying
- (ii) Salting

(d) State two (2) effects of thermal expansion.

2(a) (i) Define heat?

(ii) State three (3) differences between temperature and heat.

(b) (i) Outline four (4) protective measures one must take when an earth quake occurs.

(ii) Define dispersal of seeds.

(c) (i) List three (3) properties of air.

(ii) Define complete metamorphosis and give three (3) examples of insects that undergo complete metamorphosis.

(d) (i) List three (3) uses of electromagnets.

(ii) Mention three (3) causes of flooding.

3(a)(i) Define the term “food poisoning”.

(ii) What are the symbols and functions of the following electrical components?
Capacitor Diode Galvanometer Transistor

(b) Study the figure below carefully and answer the questions that follow.

- (i) Label the parts I, II, III, IV, V.
 - (ii) Give one (1) function for the part labeled V, IV and III.
 - (iii) What does the figure above represent?
- (c) (i) Mention two (2) reasons why people preserve food.
- (ii) Give two (2) application of convection current.
- (d) The table below demonstrates the composition of different gases inhaled and exhaled air copy and complete the table.

Gases	Inhaled	Exhaled
Nitrogen	I	78%
Oxygen	21%	II
Carbon dioxide	III	4%
Water vapour	Varies	IV

4. Define the following terms.
- (i) river bed (ii) marshy area (iii) channel capacity

(b)(i) Study the diagram below and label the parts correctly.

- (ii) State one function each of the part labelled the V, I, II, V, III.
- (c)(i) State four (4) factors that affect seed size.
- (ii) Describe the process of germination of seeds
- (d)(i) Define an electric circuit.
- (ii) Mention two (2) relationships between temperature and heat.

(i) At what price did he sell the tape recorder?

(ii) What was Ali's loss percentage?

3(a) Find the areas of the shaded portions.

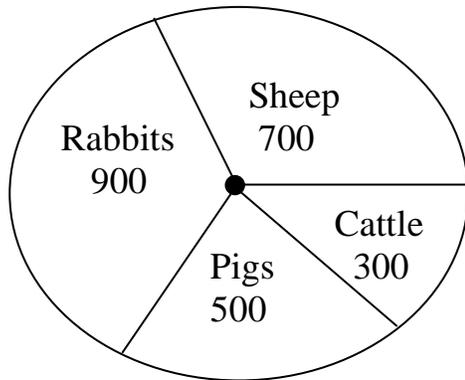

(b) Find the ordered pairs for the rule $2x - 1$ for the set $x = \{ 1, 7, 3, 4, 5, 6 \}$

(ii) Complete and name the properties of multiplications used in the following;

(a) $7 \times 9 = 9 \times \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$ (b) $6 \times \underline{\hspace{2cm}} = 6$

(c) $6 \times (7 \times 2) = (6 \times 7) \times \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

(c)

The pie chart shows the number of rabbits, sheep, cattle and pigs on a farm.

- (i) How many animals are on the farm?
- (ii) What angle represents the number of sheep on the farm?
- (iii) What percentage of the total number of animals are rabbit?
- (iv) Calculate the angle that represents number of pigs.

(d) With a ruler and pencil, carefully sketch;

- (i) A triangular pyramid
- (ii) Square pyramid
- (iii) Pentagonal pyramid

(4) The following are the marks of 8 pupils in a mathematical trial test.

69, 72, 41, 65, 55, 73, 63 and 50

Calculate; (i) the mean (ii) median (iii) mode

- (b) (i) Find L. C. M of (a) 3, 6, 9 (b) 7, 21 and 35
- (ii) Find the prime factors of (i) 84 (ii) 24 (iii) 220

(c) A fair die is tossed once. Find the probability that a number chosen at random is

- (i) a even number
- (ii) not greater than 3
- (iii) prime number

(c)(ii) Draw a circle and label its parts.

(d)(i) Change the following decimals to percentages.

- (a) 0.25
- (b) 0.020

(ii) Find the volume of a cuboid with sides 7cm, 8cm and 10cm.

(iii) Find the first number for the rule “second number plus 1 divided by 2”.

- (a) A (_____, 3)
- (b) k (_____, 21)
- (c) P (_____, 31)
